books look like books because, though it sounds a bit simple to say so, that's what they are. And that's what they're supposed to look like.

Richard Hendel
"A book designer's odyssey"
_Scholarly Publishing_,
July 1986, p. 350