This example demonstrates the quite complex options for assigning label prefixes to bibliographies and how citations decide which bibliography to point to. The default rule is that a citation will point to its entry in the last bibliography in which it appears. This can be overridden by explicit assignment to particular ref contexts with the \assignrefcontext* macros.

This is a publication by Aristotle: [R1]
These are not publications by Aristotle: [Q1] [3] [Q2] [S4]
This is another publication by Aristotle: [R2]

Aristotle Publications

Other publications

Other publications

More Other publications

New Refsection

More Other publications